ANNEXATION IN FIJI. Public attention amongst residents in China has not often been directed to the from the usual track of vessels visiting this coast as the Fiji Islands. The group thus designated (by some named "Feejee," Fidji or Viti) lying in lat. 15. to 19° S. and long. 117° E. and 178° W -almost the precise antipodes of London-consists of some 154 islands, 65 of which are inhabited, many containing from 5,000 to 13,000; the largest with which our present remarks have to do being Viti Lovu-the seat of native government, and of the enterprise to be described. Gazetteers have, ever since the discovery of the Fiji Islands; given curious particulars of the habits and customs of the natives. One of the most reliable, published in 1856 describes them as a sayage race remarkable for cruelty, deceit, and cowardice; and further informs the reader that their cannibalistic propensity is so outrageous that its gratification "is not limited to enemies or persons of a different tribe, or by way of satisfying revenge. They will devour with avidity their dearest relatives" who, trussed like fowls, are placed in ovens and roasted alive, "Shipwrecked people," the account significantly adds, "are uniformly eaten-wholly from the extreme relist the natives possess for human flesh." It may thus be conjectured that many, whose latest acquaintance with Fiji is based upon these and similar accounts, will be astonished to learn that the King of Fiji has entered into written engagements with an Australian company whereby he cedes a large amount of land, banking monopolies, etc., etc., and that in fact the natural law of progress is likely to revenge the former custom of Fijtans esting white men, by white men devouring in a very literal sense, as regards the future destinics of the natives, the King,

15th ultimo, contains a lengthy communication from the Fijis, in which the matter (which has been previously alluded to in these columns) is set forth in detail. By this it appears two gentlemen-Messrs Brewer and Evans-had been appointed as delegates from & Company formed in Melbourne who were desirous of obtaining large concessions in Fiji. It is well known that the American Government has for many years maintained a claim for compensation, raise on behalf of certain U.S. citizens whose property had been destroyed, against the King of Fiji. The claim, so far as we are able to judge, was well founded, though we have no means of judging as to its moderation or excess. But this has little. to do with the matter. The claim has been for many years the tormenting bugbear of the old King, and the deputation consequently found him in a state which eagerly grasped at any relief from the fears of threatened U. S. Annexation which had so long haunted him. The gentlemen representing the Company were provided with a "charter" which they submitted to the King on the 23rd May last. It is too long to quote, but its provisions were shortly that the Company |

In fact, he denies company the rights of sovereignty, their assuming the same. The whole is fraught with the utmost importan Fiji, and in consequence causes muc oftement. The old king seems like men now that he believes that there end of the difficulty of his life, and wh was represented to him how that the cl seriously affected the liberties of the residents, he laughed and said, " foreigners are as deep as the sea an well look after yourselves. TO-DAY'S POLICE.

Mr Goodlake was on the Bench. Inspector Grines charged two highway robbers with a daring robbery, under the following circumstances. It appears that Chang Ayee, a barber, was on his way alone from Wanchi to Aberdeen, when he was met by the two prisoners and stopped his way. One of the prisoners had a large dagger unsheathed in his hand, and he manded all the property from the con plainant's person. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ONGKONG AND WHAMPOA DOCK

COMPANY. The annual general meeting of the Shareholders of the above Company was held on the afternoon of the 25th August, at the Club Chambers, when there was a large attendance of shareholders. The Hon. V Keswick compied the chair; and amongst those present were—Hon. P. Ryrie, Messra Helland, Bertrand, Pyke, Burrows, Rowett, Berwick, Taylor, Delbanco, Walker, Anderson, Kaye, Margesson, Deacon, Ruttunjee, Soames, Gillson, J. S. Lapraik (Secretary), H. C. Caldwell (Solicitor), and

The Chairman, having read the Report of the Directors for the year (which had been already published and circulated), proposed its adoption, together with the puroval of the accounts.

Mr Pyke then rose and said that there were one or two items in the accounts to which he wished to draw attention. ing the past year the earnings at Whampoa had been $7,629.84, while the mess account had been for the same time over $5,000; and although the previous year's earnings were as much as $27,000, the expense for messing had been about the same amount. Now, in his opinion, the time had arrived for a decrease of expenses, although time was when a few thousand dollars were not much thought of; times were now very different, and the general expenses ought certainly to be reduced. It was strange that although the earnings were so very much less, that the messing expense should be almost exactly the same. There was another large item which he satisfactorily explained, viz. $10,362.83, which was put down in a lump sum as sundry charges at Hongkong, Whampos and Aberdeeu;" it was a very large sum, and they ought to have some detailed account of it. He had no wish to complain of the management of the Dock, but it was absolutely incumbent upon them to reduce the expenditure. There the messing item for the year was the same as that of the the mess must have been much more durwhen the handzome dividend of 16 percept was declared last year, and he was not prepared to argue the question; but he had been told that the Company, had to borrow money, shortly after the last dividend was declared, in order to meet its liabilities. Again, he observed from the accounts that of steamers or buildings, although neither could be of the same value after a lapse three years. There was no doubt some preciation at all events, especially upor steamers, and something ought to have been written off for both.

The Chairman replied that, although les business had been done at Whampoa, it die not follow that the sum of $420 a-month for messing should be lessened. That sum was not at all out of the way, and although the Directors were most anxious to lesson the expenses as much as possible, the effici ency of the Docks must be preserved; and in his opinion, deducting from the mes account would not add to the efficiency of the staff. As to Mr Pyke's remark upon sundry charges, he had a document which contained particulars of every item of the sum named, but which, although it was too ong to read, was open to the inspection every one, and would be handed round Regarding the dividend declared last year he Chairman said that he was not present or connected with the Dock Company then, but he believed that it was declared by obtaining a loan on the stock: Mr Pyke remarked that he understood arge portion of the expense of Thampon was caused by the entertainmen of Captains of vessels, who lived there a luxuriant style for a week or ten days while their vessels were in dock.

Mr G. Anderson said that he quite agree with Mr Pvke. From the accounts, which he considered that there was not enough looking after of the expenditure. Another thing he wished to note. The Secretary to's salary was $5,416 odd, although both were resident in Hongkong : he thought either one or the other was superfluous. Besides, any one who did a large business in Hongkong could not have time to look after the Dock. He would suggest that a gentleman, a good accountant, should be got out from home, to not as secretary and that he saw complainant and another party Ar the Bankruptcy Court, on the 4th July, manager, and to look after the Dock. He thought that there was very little attention shortly after which he heard a disturbance, and Co., received his discharge. Lamont's claim of $150,000. Mr Pyke: $150,000 of a loan? It was a grievous mistake thus to procure a dividend. Mr Anderson: It all went into the share-

To show how the opposition was acting prejudicially upon the Company's rates, Mr H. stated the tenders for work which were sent in by the Company at $1500 were undertaken by the other Company at the sum of $700; so ing the year previous. He was not present | that they were bound either to get over the position in some way, or follow suit it prices. As for the measing account, Mr H. remarked that an order might be given that no captains should be entertained but although some retrenchment might probably be made in that direction, they night to remember that Mr Gillies' messiv and that of four or five others were include

> Mr Pyke remarked that the reduction must be effected as that was the only way in which a Dock could be made to pay. Mr Helland continued to observe that the stock when realized would fully meet the $150,000 owing to Mr Lamont. Captain Gillson remarked that the liabi ities were nearly $400,000. Mr Helland said that Captain Gillson was mistaken, and that the fresh call an the realization of the stock would full meet all the Company's liabilities That was the position of the Company, the unfortunate Mirage affair; the Company lost $12,000 over that, and believed that Messrs Burrows, who pur chased the vessel, lost $2,500 more.

Mr Pyke drew attention to the very shor notice given for the calling up of the re maining capital. He spoke principally in the interests of people at home, who, quite horrified at the accounts, would be wholly unprepared for the call; and there was barely time to receive an answer in three months. It was particularly hard for peo come carned out here, to find that they had inexpectedly to meet such a claim; he did not suppose for a moment that the shareholders in the Colony would find any difficulty in meeting the call, but it would different with many at home.

Mr Helland admitted that it was hard but how could they help it? They hav been very unfortunate this year, but there were many Companies in a much worse plight. Some companies and banks had not iven any dividend for years, notably one in Shanghai. But things were now begun amend; no doubt something could be done in the way of retrenchment; and l hoped they would surmount their present difficulties. Mr Pyke said that he thought something should have been written off. Mr Helland replied that, if they had had it, nothing would have given the Directors greater pleasure : but the shareholders had got it; and as they had already got nearly 100 per cent. of their money they had little reason to complain.

Mr Pyke remarked that it was unfortunate that the shareholders had got the large

Mr Helland observed that the shareholders had got 95 per cent. during the last five years. It was true that some who had been speculating in shares had got bitten, but that was not the fault of the Directors. He believed that the accounts were naked and stated the bare truth.

Mr Pyke stated that he had been informed upon very good authority, by a gentleman whose name he would not give, that the Fame was valued at about $10,000 above her actual value. He thought that in future something should be written off for

Mr Anderson thought that, in future, there should be a dividend. The Directors had been proceeding upon the same principle in regard to depreciation as they had been with regard to loans and dividends. Mr tielland replied that the Directors had done so all along, but that the shareholders were always present to oppose what had been done. He was certain that after the call of $153,000 was paid, when the property of the Company would be unburdened by any debt, the Company would be in a better position than it ever had been. > THE REPORTED INSULT TO THE BRITISH FLAG IN MEXICO.

American papers publish the following, dated San Francisco, July 2 :- "Advices from Mazatlah to the 22nd of June report that a serious difficulty had occurred between Commander Bridge, of the English war steamer Chanticleer, and the Mexican authorities at that place. The Chanticleer. it is said, was in a perilous situation off the coast, and fired signal guns for assistance. A pilot went out and released the ship from her position of danger, but the commander of the steamer refused to pay the pilot for his services and proceeded to Mazatlan. The collector of the port of Mazatlan was notified that one of the officers of the British war steamer was engaged in conveying specie on board to avoid the export duty. and caused his arrest. The officer's person was searched and a quantity of gold found upon him. The captain of the Chanticleer same ashore, and in a very excited manner declared that his vessel and himself had been insulted by the judignity offered to him subordinates. High words followed, which culminated in the arrest and search of the person of the British commander by order f the collector, who asserted his auspicion that the commander also was implicated in smuggling specie on board of his vessel. Captain Bridge then went on board of the Chanticleer and notified the inhabitants' of Mazatlan that he was about to bombard the city for the insult offered to the English flay. The captain's proclamation of hostility caused great excitement, and numerous communications in writing passed between Captain Bridge, General Corona, and the civil authorities. The United States Consul. Mr. Session, acting as mediator, ultimately induced the British commander to modify his proclamation so as to place the port of Mazatlan under blockade so far as Mexican vessels were concerned, until he could receive orders from the British Admiral commanding on his station. Amorican and other foreign ressels would not be interfered with. It is asserted that the action of General Corona and the Mexican authorities is approved by the Foreign residents generally. The United States war steamer Sucance had left Acapulco for Mazatlan, to protect the American interests in that place. The United States steamer Resaca was at La Paz on June 21. Additional advices from Mexico state that Commander Bridge at first demanded that the officer who searched the person of his subordinate board the Chanticle r, to be dealt with as the commander saw fit. General Corons replied that sooner than submit to such an outrage he would allow the city to be bombarded, and telling him, in indignant language, that if he had a reclamation to make he should make it in the manner customary with civilized nations, and through the proper obannel." Shanghai Recorder May 7, and Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, May 11, 1867 A very useful book has just been issued from the Press in Hongkong under the title of the " Guide Book and Vade-mecum PACIFIC INSURANCE COMPANY OF to the Treaty Ports of China and Japan," the next edition. From the Englishman (Calcutta) of June 8:-"The celebrated volumes of the French Abbé Hue on China, and Sir Rutherford Alcock's account of Japan are, no A Secretaries and Agents of this Associ- doubt, works of a far higher class and more extensive scope than the one now before us; but for practical utility, for all purposes of locomotion, trading and residence in any of the places coming within its compass, The Treaty Ports of China In addition to the usual brokerage this and Japan, by Messrs Mayers, Dennys and King, far surpasses them. It is difficult to know under what class of books to place it. for it contains a mixture of history, topography, hygiene, Murray's Hand-book and Bradshaw's Guide, -all as complete and excellent in their own line as could be expected; and though, perhaps, the book will not prove attractive to students, it is calculated to give a more intimate knowledge of the towns it describes, aided by the excellent maps which accompany it-the work entirely of Chinese-than any of the more elaborated works that have preceded * * * We trust we have said enough a show that for any one about to visit, or reside in either of the countries described this work contains not only most valuable information, but many useful bints. The modest hope expressed by the authors, that much will he found in the present book that is new and unknown to the general reader, is, we think, fully justified. * * * Hongkong and Canton, for example, each occupy more than 100 pages, comprising every conceivable particular regarding them, from their history native and foreign, to particulars of the geological formation and botanical wealth of the neighbourhood. * * * Not the least interesting feature in the book under review, is the insight it affords us into the character of the population in dif ferent parts of this vast empire. * * * One of the most interesting chapters is devoted to a sketch of the history and topographical entures of Formosa. The vicissitudes of its history, the peculiarities of its inhabitants, and the reputed mineral wealth of its hillsaffordample subject for research; and, to a person of Mr Swinhoe's tastes, must have offered powerful attractions. From his "Notes on Formosa" are derived many of the particulars given in the work under * * * Interesting descriptions of the fauna and flora of the island are given, for details of which we refer our readers to the book itself. We have, we believe, said enough to show the scope and character of the work; and must take leave of it for the present, though with the intention of completing our sketch of the information it gives regarding the various treaty ports, on a future occasion. In the meantime, we can assure our readers that no one who takes the trouble to gain a more intimate knowledge of it, will regret (Singapore Free Press, May 9.) We referred briefly, several days ago, to a new work published by Messrs. A. Shortrede & Co., of Hongkong, entitled "The Treaty Ports of China and Japan." But it would be utterly impossible, in a condensed notice of such a work, to give an adequate idea of its contents. The historical events of interest since the foundation of the settlement of Hongkong, are perhaps too much condensed into a general summary; but the most important feature in the composition of the society of the present colony, is detailed at greater length. When we come to consider that the book before us makes no pretensions to be a history, but merely a guide book, we cannot hesitate to pronounce it at once the most complete work of its kind ever issued. The Appendix may be termed the China Bradshaw, and the text teems with interesting papers, -historical, botanical, and descriptire. The maps and plans are useful illustrations of the geographical position of the treaty ports, and a valuable assistance both to travellers and residents, From the Hankow Times, May 18.

the time employed.

We feel it to be a public duty to take the first opportunity of calling attention to the "Guide Book and Vade Mecum" just issucd for "travellers, merchants, and residents in general," in the Treaty Ports of China and Japan, by Messrs Shortrede & Co., of Hongkong. * * * The order of description of the various places follows their position on, or from the coast, as we go northward. In each instance the history, position, means of access, accommodation, foreign residences, public buildings community, mode and cost of living, climate, associations, amusements, places of interest, native institutions, population, local government, natural history, productions, and statistics of trade are given, along with a miscellaneous detail of faots and incident. in connection with particular localities. So far as we are able to practically test the individual descriptions of the various places. they are given with a considerable degree of fairness and fulness. Peking, Yedo, and Macao are wisely included in the general * * * The value of the book is greatly increased by a most copious index, and the work closes with a set of useful appendices. The last of these is the greatest novelty of the work. It consists of a bibliographical index of all formal works pub lished from the earliest date in the English language on Ohina and Japan. Philological boo's are, for some reasons best known to the compilers, entirely excluded.

We hope to see this omission repaired in compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys. | the comparative thinness of the paper, the enterprise and performance.
